

Army National Guard Visits Archuleta

On October 20, the Army National Guard from Buckley Air Force Base flew in to pay a visit to Archuleta students. This visit marked Archuleta's second annual Red Ribbon week celebration. Students were awed as the helicopter touched down on their playground fields and members of the National Guard appeared. The soldiers sent a strong, clear message of drug prevention to all who were present. At the end of the presentation, students took a pledge to remain drug free and received a tour of the helicopter.

Archuleta greatly appreciates the support we received from the Army National Guard in sending this important message to our children! This was a memorable experience for all who attended, and will make a long-lasting impression on our students as to the importance of remaining healthy and safe.
